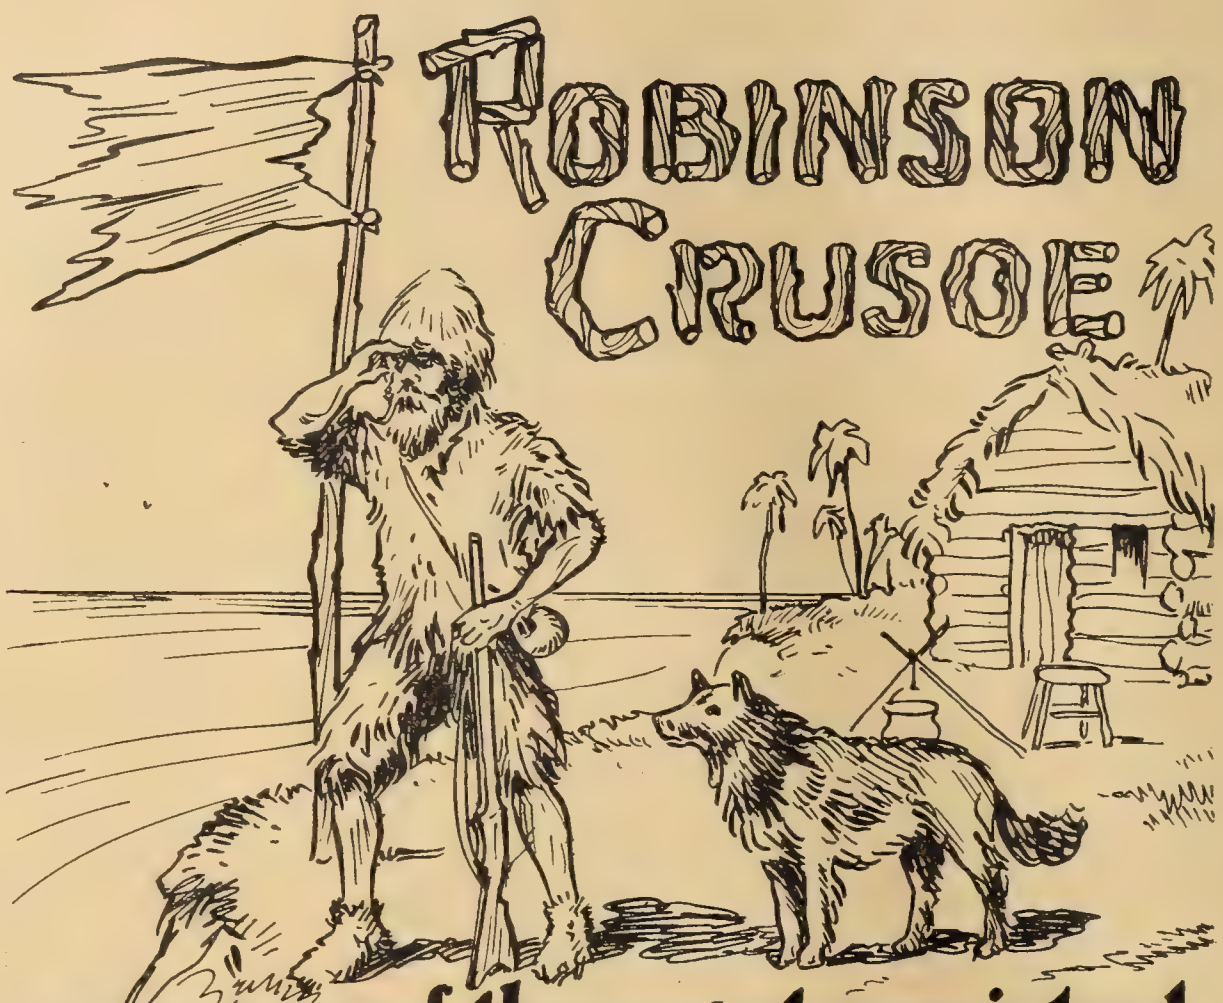
PRODUCED BY MIGHT'S TORONTO



was one of the most persistent advertisers in the history of success

HE believed in advertising . . . . . he knew what he wanted . . . a ship, and he put up an advertisement for one. He hung a shirt on a pole in a conspicuous place on his island . . . a place where it would be seen by any ship which sailed near

The circulation was small and there was no other medium; but Crusoe kept his flag flying even though one garment after another wore out In the end he got what he wanted.

Crusoe advertised under discouraging circumstances, but had he taken down that signal after a year — where would he and his story be?

If you want success put your signal up and keep it flying. You have a thousand chances of success to his one. You can reach ALL the people all the time through—
